The answer to Test 67 is option 2: his brother died.

Most astrologers opted for option 1. Understandable, but the answer is option 2: his brother died

Dymock Brose learned us to look at first at the closest 1 degree aspects. And if we do, you find the correct answer.

- Neptune ,the Planet of loss, conjunct Cusp 3, the House of brothers and sisters
- Moon, Ruler of the 3rd, square Mars, Ruler of the 12th House of loss
- Venus, Ruler of the 1st House inconjunct Vx/Pluto: a struck of fate concerning death
- Neptune sextiel the Ascendant tells the same: loss
- Eq. Asc. conjunct the 8th House cusp of the brother (10th)

If you look at aspects with a larger orb to confirm your findings you see:

- Floating Mc/ Saturn square the Moon, Ruler of the 3rd House)
- Yod: Uranus, Ruler of the 8th of the brother inconjunct Vx/Pluto, sextile Sun (Ruler of the natal 3rd House) conjunct Venus, Ruler of the Ascendant

I notice that on the day of the event (March 4th 1999) the North Node exactly aspected the natal Sun. The Node, which is placed in the natal Chart in the third House, transited the second House in Cancer, which can signify the family; and its lord, the Moon, transited the fourth House of relatives. The Sun is the lord of the third House which represents brothers and sisters, and transited the natal Moon. It thus sounds very probable to me that the native's brother died on that day.
